

UNIVERSITY FACULTY SCHOLARS PROGRAM

Poole College Nomination Process

This university program recognizes and rewards emerging academic leaders among our faculty. Twenty candidates from throughout the university will be selected and named as a University Scholar, will carry that title for a 5 year period and will receive a $10,000 per year stipend which may be used for supplemental salary or programmatic support.

Poole College will submit two candidates for the fall 2016 award period. A Poole College University Faculty Scholars selection committee will be appointed by the dean to review the applications and recommend two candidates for the college to forward to the Chancellor's Office for consideration. The selection committee will consist of four faculty members, one from each department.

ELIGIBILITY

To be eligible for nomination, faculty must be either

- an assistant professor who has been reappointed for a second term,
- an associate professor, or
- a full professor in the first three years at that rank

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING THE PCOM NOMINEES

- Significant promise or significant achievement in scholarly endeavors, including research, publications and presentations of research in the faculty member's area of expertise
- Research promise, as reflected by level of external funding and invited presentations
- High quality classroom teaching, as reflected by documented excellence in teaching, course and program improvement, and other activities that enhance the students' academic experience and career preparation.
- Demonstration of leadership potential, as reflected by service to the college, the university, within business and industry or the community.
- Current and potential visibility in the individual's discipline, as reflected by outreach, service and engagement in academic, professional or industry organizations
